As international corporate policy seeks to eradicate cultural diversity & thus cultural identity in order to establish social uniformity and further retain economic and social power, a small group of insurgents oppose those powers learning they are betrayed in the process. Child, a history teacher, lives a double life in this dystopian future. Along with his companions, Brazil, Tempest, Seer and Balder, he conspires against the overwhelming power of the incorporated government. While education is Child's weapon of choice, the rebel group faces the unexpected challenge foretold by an uncanny dream. 646f9e108c
